

[EN] CHANSONS PARTOUT - FULL PROGRAM

11/09/2022 - SLIPPERS EVERYWHERE

The songs of the hearth, the songs of the animals, the songs of the nest.

Certain bird songs and certain animal cries are meant to define the contours of a home.

Whether we are human or animal, singing makes home.

What do we sing home?

What songs bring our loved ones together, or define the territory of our home?

25/09/2022 - Cooking songs

Sometimes certain recipes require a song to be carried out, like a sort of magic formula that gives the potion its power.

So what do we sing when we cook?

What are the songs that tell the story of cooking, that give recipes, that talk about the virtues of certain plants and the benefits of fruits and vegetables?

23/10/2022 - Work Songs, Money songs

Money calls money! This is the theory proposed in the famous song by Pamela Mounka.

We can wonder about this formula for a long time. Does this mean that the more money you have, the more you earn? Does this song call money?

Are there songs that make money rain?

If work sometimes makes it possible to earn money, what are the songs that give strength to work?

And how does work influence music and singing?

30/10/2022, songs and death.

Funeral songs or songs for the dead are means of entering into dialogue with our deceased loved ones and of welcoming death as an event intimately linked to life and to the land we inhabit. How do our dead make us sing? What are the songs that soothe and what links do they maintain with the land of our ancestors?
